The Reserve Directors

Commander Land was born in tenandoah, Pa., and received his early schooling there. He graduated from Girard College, Philadelphia in 1930 and entered the Coast Guard Academy in 1933. During the next four years he participated in football, boxing and baseball, winning letters in each sport each year.

On graduation CDR Land served briefly aboard the PONTCHARTRAIN and CAMPBELL. He reported in 1939 to the CHAMPLAIN as a student engineer and later was qualified aboard the SPENCER, He served as assistant engineer on the LEONARD WOOD until he was assigned ashore as administrative assistant to the District Commander in New Orleans.

In early 1943 CDR Land became department head and instructor at the Advanced Officer Training School, St. Augustine, Fla., until the school closed and then he reported aboard the EASTWIND at San Pedro, Calif., as executive officer. His next tour was as executive officer aboard the INGHAM on weather patrol duty in the Atlantic.

He was executive officer and commanding officer of the Moorings, Cape May, from 1947 to 1949 when he became training officer of new Recruit Training Center.

After promotion to commander in 1950 he attended the Armed Forces Staff College after which he became CO of the DEXTER, which was engaged in ocean station duties out of Boston. During the next four years

Fire Fighting School To Be Held in 11th

A joint venture by the University of Southern California and the Los Angeles Fire Department has resulted in the establishment of a structural fire fighting school patterned after the University of Maryland and Queen's College schools of 1957 and 58. The school will be held during one two-week period, probably in July, and the quota of 40 will be filled mainly by officers of the rank of lieutenant and below plus a limited number of senior petty officers from port security units.

Quarters for both officers and men will be available at the University of South California dormitory, and messing facilities will be provided by the Commons cafeteria which is located nearby.

Officers Uphold Record

Three officers who attended Instructor School in Norfolk while attached to ORTUAG 05-147, Washington, have completed the course at the top of their respective classes. LCDR Seymour Ross started the record by graduating as top man in 1952. LT Robert Fredlund repeated the achievement in 1955, and LT John Bean did the same during the summer of 1957.

We Erred!

In last month's edition we said that a YNZ was assigned as a stationkeeper in St. Paul, Minn., after release from active duty. Actually, he was assigned temporarily prior to his release from active duty.

Ist District Holds Weekend Drill

Seventy reservists from OR'TUs 01-544, Boston, and 01-458, Portsmouth, spent the last weekend in November undergoing intensive training in the port security functions they will be responsible for in the event of mobilization. It was the first weekend drill for Coast Guard units in the Boston area. The reservists used the facilities of the COTP, the Base, the Cutters CASCO and CASTLE ROCK, 40-foot utility boats, and COTP radio communications.

Parents of Roll of Honor Coast Guardsman Attend Memorial Dedication

Mr. and Mrs. W. Howard Arrighi of Point Lookout, New York, parents of Roll of Honor Coast Guardsman Richard Andrea Arrighi, attended the dedication of an American Memorial Chapel at St. Paul's Cathedral in London, England on November 26th.

The Chapel is dedicated to American servicemen who lost their lives during World War II while based in the United Kingdom. The ceremonies were attended by Queen Elizabeth and by Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who represented President Eisenhower.

Richard Arrighi was commissioned an ensign, USCGR, on November 24, 1942, and assigned to the CGC ESCANABA, an escort vessel operating in the North Atlantic. On February 3, 1943, under grave peril and at the risk of his life, he participated in the rescue of 145 survivors of the Army Transport Dorchester, which was torpedoed and sunk in North Atlantic waters. He was one of three men who entered the water and attached lines to life rafts and transport personnel. He was awarded the Navy and Marine Corps Medal posthumously for his heroism on this occasion.

Ensign Arrighi was lost in action on June 13, 1943, when the ESCANABA was sunk while escorting a convoy task unit between Greenland and Newfoundland, taking down all but two of her crew.

Angela M. Fonville, ESX2, reenlists for three more years in the Ready Reserve as LCDR E. A. Richardson, director of the Reserve, 14th Coast Guard District administers the oath.

Fonville originally enlisted in 1944 and served two years on active duty during World War II. She is the only SPAR in the Hawaiian area.

Navy Clarifies Proper Use ( Of Correspondence Courses

In BuPers Instruction 1500.46, published in November, the Navy has restated the objectives of naval correspondence courses. This clarification is the result of reports to the Chief of Naval Personnel that in some instances the purpose of these courses has been defeated by failure to conduct study and to prepare and submit solutions properly.

Correspondence courses are designed to broaden the professional knowledge and capabilities of the student through self-study. They can do this only to the extent that the student pursues his study conscientiously, by himself, and submits solutions that reflect his own thinking and decisions.

While working on correspondence-course assignments, a student is permitted to refer continually to open-book texts and references. He may seek occasional advice and instruction from others on problems arising in a course. But he is prohibited from referring to or copying the solutions of others, accepting undue assistance from others, or collaborating with others in working out solutions. Further, he is prohibited from showing his completional solutions to anyone else who is taking the same course.

Correspondence courses may be used as part of a curriculum for drill or NROS classes only when specifically authorized by the Chief of Naval Personnel, or, in the case of Coast Guard Reserve units, by the Commandant (PR). Where such authorization has been granted, instructors are forbidden to disclose information from approved or sample solutions that may be in their possession.

ich as rules, inside and outside alipers, dividers, and micrometers. (12) Blueprints: Read simple blueprints and wiring diagrams, work from ordnance drawings, and make sketches for

Requirements Modified For Transfer To Retired Reserve Without Pay

Requirements for transfer to the Retired Reserve without pay have been modified. The changes have been effected by Title 10, U. S. Code, Sections 1376 (a), 1003, and 1004, which replaced the sections concerning transfer to the Retired Reserve in the Armed Forces Reserve Act of 1952.

Here is a summary of current regulations:

Grade in which transfer to the Retired Reserve is affected--A reservist is normally transferred to the Retired Reserve in the grade in which serving at the time of transfer. However, there are three exceptions to the rule:

• A member who has served satisfactorily in a higher grade than that held at time of transfer will be transferred in the higher grade.

• Unless entitled to the same or higher grade as indicated above, an officer recommended for promotion to any grade under the Reserve Officer Personnel Act of 1954, or found qualified for Federal recognition in a higher grade, who, at any time before promotion, is found physically incapacitated for promotion, is entitled - upon transfer to the Retired Reserve - to be transferred in the grade for which recommended. However, no increase in pay or benefits shall result from such a promotion unless otherwise provided by law.

● Unless entitled to the same or higher grade under either of the above provisions, an officer who has been specially commended by the head of the executive department for performance of duty in actual combat for an act or service performed before 1 Jan 1947 shall, after his transfer to the Retired Reserve, be advanced to the grade ordnance repairs. (13) Soldering: Perform simple soldering, brazing, and sweating operations. (14) Qualify as gun captain, second class, at a main, secondary, or anti-aircraft battery gun.

Gunner's mates are assigned to all fighting ships and to ordnance depots and shore stations maintaining large inventories of gunnery equipment.

Gunner's mates should be average or above average in general learning ability and should possess a high degree of aptitude for mechanical work. School training in arithmetic, shop mathematics, electricity, physics, and shopwork provide a desirable educational background.

next higher than that in which he was serving at time of transfer.

(Formerly, there was no provision of law whereby a reservist on inactive duty could be advanced on the retired list above the grade in which serving at time of retirement - except reservists eligible for "combat advancement.")

Requirements for transfer to the Retired Reserve - Reservists may apply for transfer to the Retired Reserve List if they meet any of the following five eligibility requirements:

● Have completed 20 years of honorable service in any component of the Armed Forces, or Armed Force without component.

• Are physically disqualified for active duty as a result of a service-connected disability regardless of total years of service completed.

● Have completed 10 or more years of active Federal commissioned service.

• Are physically disqualified for active duty, not as a result of their own misconduct, regardless of total years of service completed.

● Have reached age 37, provided they

- (a) have completed a minimum of eight years of satisfactory Federal service following 1 Jul 1949, or
- (b) have completed a minimum of eight years of service and have served honorably on active duty in time of war or national emergency for at least six months,
- (c) have consistently supported the Armed Forces in an outstanding manner, as determined by the appropriate Secretary.

The privileges and obligations of members of the Retired Reserve remain unchanged. They are as fol-

Privileges -- Retired personnel not on active duty are entitled to wear the prescribed uniform of the rank or rate held on the retired list when the wearing is appropriate. They are entitled to use their military title in connection with commercial enterprises.

Obligations -- In time of war or national emergency, members of the Retired Reserve may be ordered to active duty without their consent only when the appropriate Secretary, with the approval of the Secretary of Defense, determines that adequate numbers of members of Reserve components in an active status are not readily available.

New Disability Clause For GI Insurance Policies

More than 5,000,000 World War II and Korean conflict veterans who attach a new type of total disability income provision to their policies for a small additional premium cost.

Under Public Law 85-678--which became effective on 1 November-policyholders who become totally disabled before reaching age 60 and while the new clause is in effect will receive an income of $10 a month for each $1,000 face amount of their policies.

Those veterans who have $10,000 policies would thus receive $100 monthly disability pay. (A similar clause formerly granted $5 monthly for each $1,000 of insurance.)

Payments under the clause begin after the total disability has existed for six consecutive months and conor the duration of the disabilardless of its length.

abilities incurred after reaching age 60 and, of course, no premium charge is made for this benefit after the veteran reaches age 60.

Premium cost of the total disability provisions varies according to the 'policy-holder's age, type of policy, and its face amount.

A typical example would be that of a 40-year-old veteran with a $10,000 NSLI term policy. He would pay $1.60 monthly for the new clause; if he became totally disabled, he would receive $100 monthly.

You may obtain complete information about the new total disability income provision from any Veterans Administration office.

pu'll Find Answers to Questions in Directives, References

If you have been wondering about correspondence courses, retirement, how to change your rating, or any other subject pertaining to the Coast Guard Reserve program, you don't need to rely on sea lawyers, scuttlebutt, or second-hand information. Whatever your question, you're likely to have the answer virtually at your fingertips -- in offi-Of course, copies of directives and references are not usually available for distribution to individuals. However, most Coast Guard active itian maintain complete files of this material, and the CO of your unit can steer you to the right answers.

Here are some of the primal, references which should answer most of your everyday, routine questions:

Regulations, United States Coast Guard Reserve -- Sets forth the principles and policies by which the Reserve is governed.

• Personnel Manual - CG-207--Contains instructions governing the various phases of Coast Guard personnel administration.

Personnel and Reserve Instrucns--Directives issued by the nmandant containing policy and procedure concerning the administration of Reserve personnel.

● Joint Travel Regulations, 1951—Explains laws and regula-tions concerning travel and station allowances; sets forth the manner in which transportation is furnished. reimbursement for travel expenses.

 U. S. Navy Uniform Regulations -- amended for Coast Guard use -- Describes uniforms and contains regulations for the wearing of uniforms.

Following are some of the most frequently consulted directives which relate to specific aspects of the Reserve program. Also, the RESERVIST frequently summarizes important directives and prepares comprehensive articles on various subjects. Some of these articles are referenced under the following categories for the guidance of those who do not have ready access to directives; note, however, that publication of material in the RESERV= IST is for information only and does not constitute authority for action.

. . . the just pride of patriotism . . . "

Besides the story about the cherry tree, we should remember more about George Washington whose birthday we celebrate February 22nd

General Washington, our first President, had this to say in his farewell address in 1796:

"Citizens by birth or choice, of a common country, that country has a right to concentrate your affections. The name of American, which belongs to you . . . must always exalt the just pride of patriotism. . .

"This Government, the offspring of your choice uninfluenced and unawed, adopted upon full investigation and mature deliberation, completely free in its principles . . . and containing within itself a provision for its own amendment, has a just claim to your confidence and support.

"Respect for its authority, compliance with its lawamentarndutins enjoined by the funda of true liberty
